The plug in is a short sine sweep with amplitude and frequency modulation, simulating the sensation of hearing a high pitched sound. The idea behind the plugin is to enable you to utilize the human ear sensitivity to sound perception and deliver a bass kick at a certain time. With the help of KeyMacro you can automate the process of generating a kick. The plugin provides four different modes of operation: filter, amp, delay, and cross-fader. == Modes == * Filter: The filter section allows the user to specify the duration of the current bass pulse in milliseconds. * Amp: This is an amplify effect that allows the user to specify the level of the incoming bass signal. * Delay: The delay section provides the user with the ability to have the incoming signal being delayed, this would be the same idea of a creative effect that could be achieved by programming a delay line on an analog synth. * Fader: The final mode allows the user to crossfade between the kick and the incoming signal. == Features == * Input: Direct, Line, and Mic inputs are available for those that want to have both the kick and the bass sound in the same input. The output will always be the kick. * Output: The plugin provides four outputs. It can be adjusted to output to any of the inputs. The filters will only work on the kick input. * Filter Width: The filters on the plugin can be adjusted from 1Hz to 250Hz. * Gain: The gain in dB is adjustable and can be saved to the plugin for further customization. * Feedback: This can be used for creative effect since the negative parts of the incoming bass are used to drive the filter section. * Delay: The delay can be set from -1ms to +1ms in 1000msec.s. * Volume: The plugin features a volume control to adjust the level of the incoming bass signal. * Amp: The amp control allows the user to adjust the level of the incoming bass signal. * Threshold: The threshold control allows the user to set the level of the incoming signal at which the amp will activate. * Offset: The offset control allows the user to tweak the sensitivity of the plugin for generating a more flab sound when the amp control is active. * Res: The resonance control allows the user to adjust the left/right balance. * Filter Width: The filters on the plugin can be adjusted from 1Hz to 250Hz. * Gain: The gain in dB is adjustable and can be saved to the plugin for further customization. * Feedb

What's New In?

BazzIsm provides a new innovative approach to controlling the bass at the low frequencies. The plugin's main goal is to provide users with a seamless and user-friendly interface for creating a kick. Hence, the plugin is also intended to help beginners as well as experienced users to "switch on" the bass as fast as possible. While most plugins have a dedicated channel for bass, BazzIsm is not yet the same. It can be switched on and off at the same time as the kick channel, keeping the core essence of the original kick element in your mix. However, it can also become a very powerful tool when used with other plugins. One of the most noticeable features of this plugin is its simple user interface. It is highly recommended to use this plugin with other plugins to get the best results, as the bass kick can be done without a need for EQ.
