What's New In Linguarde?

Linguarde is a simple, but extremely useful utility to translate HTML-pages, web-mails and other text files between various languages with a few mouse clicks. Installation: 1. Unpack and run the installer 2. Select the target language and set the download directory 3. Enable the Linguarde service 4. Set the account for Linguarde service 5. Download additional languages Translations: You can translate texts from your clipboard to other languages. The application takes the clipboard text and searches for all text fragments in the selected document. If there is a match, the app highlights the selected text. Then click the button "Translate" to see the translation. You can use the application to translate documents, the web or emails from various apps like Firefox, Outlook and Chrome. After you have finished translating, you can store the translated text as a file on your computer. Note: It is possible to view all translation files from within the program: choose a language, a text and select the "Translation" button. Then you see all the stored translations. To see the list of languages, click the "Language" button at the bottom of the main window. To add new languages, use the menu "Add language". After you have downloaded the language pack, you need to restart the application. Reverse-translations: You can translate texts from the clipboard to your own language with the "Reverse" button. This is useful, when you want to switch to another language while the translation is still ongoing. The application will then reverse the translation process and highlight the matching text fragment in your original document. Selection: You can use the shortcut buttons "Search", "Search active", "Search entire file" to use the program in a selected text. The selection can be continued by pressing the arrow keys. Matching: To find a matching text fragment in the document, the application searches for all found text fragments in the documents. A selection can be made by pressing the "Ctrl+Spacebar" and continues by pressing the arrow keys. Translation: Click the button "Translate" to highlight the matching fragment in the source document. You can then press "Ctrl+T" to send the translation to the editor. You can store the translation as an HTML file. The program will automatically detect the language of the source document and the target language. Tools: You can use the "View" menu to view all types of text files. You can choose to view HTML pages, web-mails and documents from various apps. The "File" menu offers an option to get text from other applications. The "Edit" menu offers an option to open the current document in the default text editor. Q: Can I use a trigger to see if a field is empty
